These movements rejected excesses and embraced the desire to emphasize “man-made” over “machine-made” materials; as exemplified by the straight profile lines with curved profiles functioning more as an accent. Goes well with simpler profiles on doors as well as tongue and groove & barn door options.

Greek Revival is inspired by the principles of classic Greek architecture. Many of the accent profiles are based on the ellipse rather than the circle. The clean line of the bead is also characteristic of the style. Some of the molding styles shown build off Greek Revival and blend it with other molding styles.

Classical Colonial is on a grander scale and captures the feel of the 18th century. Colonial Revival is an early 20th century movement that brought back those details on a smaller scale. Here these styles are shown with crossetted and bullnose options.
